

Share data of B'deshi migrants given Indian citizenship: SC to govt

NEW DELHI The Supreme Court on Tuesday sought data from the Union government on Bangladeshi immigrants who availed citizenship of India under Section 6A of the Constitution Act in Assam, saying there was no material before it to indicate the number between January 1966 and March 1971 was so great that it impacted the demographic and cultural identity of the north-eastern state.

Solicitor general told SC that the govt is working on it and will share the records in a day or two.

torring the ethnic, demographic, social, cultural and economic profile of the state. The bench said, "We cannot say that Section 6A is deeply connected with our history. India had played a very vital role in the liberation of Bangladesh..."

The court was of the view that India was as much a part of the war as Bangladesh was. "This was not just looked at to deal with the citizenship of India but also the people covered under the Assam Accord — a tripartite agreement that All Assam Students' Union (AASU) signed with the Assam government and Rajiv Gandhi-led Union government, to preserve and protect the cultural, linguistic and social identity of Assam."

"We must be clear in mind that if the Parliament were to merely grant amnesty to a group of illegal immigrants it would have been a different situation. We must be careful that we are looking at a period frozen in time. What the amendment does is that it freezes citizenship at March 25, 1971. It was clearly a one-time measure," said the bench, also comprising Justices Surya Kant, MM Sundresh, JB Pardiwala and Manoj Misra.

The court was responding to senior advocate Shyam Divan who appeared for one of the petitioners, All Assam Ahom Sabha, challenging Section 6A as violative of Articles 14 (right to equality), 21 (right to life) and 29 (right to protection of interests of minorities) of the Constitution. Divan argued that the introduction of Section 6A led to proliferation of illegal migrants in Assam, thus dis-

AMIT SHAH Jammu & Kashmir Reservation (Amendment) Bill, 2023 — that were taken up for consideration and passing on Tuesday. The bills were introduced in Parliament on July 26 but were not taken up for discussion.

During the debate, Haryana said BJP's move to effectively abrogate Article 370 in 2019 was a political stratagem.

"They abrogated Article 370 just to fulfil the BJP promise," Ek Pradhan, Ek Nishan, Ek Vidhan (one PM, one flag and one Constitution). This was the slogan at the time of Spandan Prasad (Mockerjee), this is not for the people of Jammu and Kashmir, as this was a political statement and was his slogan," Ray said.

The TMC leader added urgent attention should be given to holding elections in Jammu and Kashmir, not making any other changes, referring to the two bills.

The J&K reservation bill seeks to provide reservation in jobs and admission in professional institutions to scheduled castes, scheduled tribes, and other socially and educationally backward classes. The J&K reorganisation bill provides for the reorganisation of the erstwhile state of Jammu and Kashmir into the Union Territories of Jammu and Kashmir (with an elected legislature) and Ladakh (without an elected legislature). The bill seeks to increase total number of seats to 90 from 83 in J&K assembly — a number fixed by the delimitation commission earlier this year. It also reserves seven seats for scheduled castes and nine for scheduled tribes.

During the debate, a number of Opposition leaders pushed for a time frame to hold elections in the Union territory.

Congress leader Manish Tewari and the Nationalist Congress Party's Supriya Sule were among those asked the Centre when the elections will be held. The new statehood will be restored in the Union territory.

Former J&K chief minister Farooq Abdullah hit back at Union minister of state Jitendra Singh's remark that militancy in the region was fuelled by "vested interests" of political parties that had previously ruled India and the province.

"Our neighbour (Pakistan) has not accepted the accession of Jammu and Kashmir to India. Secondly, the National Congress gave the biggest sacrifice. Our leaders and ministers were killed for holding the flag of India high. We have never denied that we are part of this nation. But do justice to us. Do not point fingers to people who have suffered for
