Fuelling success at IndianOil & beyond

Arjun Datta currently serves as the Chief Manager (Aviation) at Kolkata AFS. His journey with IndianOil began at the Haldia terminal, where he played a pivotal role in mainstream operations, managing fuel supply. As part of the Eastern Region's main supply and distribution chain, Arjun contributed significantly to IndianOil's dominant market presence.

His second posting as Administration Manager at ERO allowed him to delve into employee services and understand the intricacies of front office operations, especially in dealing with corporate clients. Since 2011, Arjun has been an integral part of the Aviation sector, handling field and shift operations at Kolkata AFS and being posted twice at Car Nicobar AFS and Ziro AFS. His contributions in these challenging locations underscore his adaptability and commitment.

I take immense pleasure and pride in serving defense and commercial customers, ensuring fuel supply 24x7 across the country. Being located mostly in Airforce stations and experiencing their lifestyle has given me the strength to serve against all odds. My time in remote locations, facing logistical challenges yet ensuring continuous refuelling operations, has helped me evolve into a mature corporate professional. I am proud to contribute to the nation's fuel security and be a part of India's transport lifeline.
